2019

Hello & Welcome.

Since The Real Olive Company's humble beginnings in Bristol's historic St Nicholas market in 1998, a lot has changed, but our values have remained the same; to source and supply the best quality olives and Mediterranean foods to the people of Great Britain.

From our accredited production site in the heart of Bristol we freshly prepare a unique range of olives and Mediterranean foods.

Our commitment to quality and sustainability has led us to being certified by Organic Farmers and Growers as an organic producer and we now offer a unique range of organic products in addition to our conventional range.

Our products have been tailored to meet the needs of the complete speciality food and catering industry, so whether you are an independent retailer, restaurant or caterer, food service distributor or manufacturer, The Real Olive Company can fulfill your olive and Mediterranean food needs with the best quality products available.

Have a good look through our catalogue and you will find everything we offer ranging from freshly marinated loose olives (for deli counters and food service), to trade and bulk olives (ideal for caterers and manufacturers).

Our olives, we should hasten to add, remain the same delicious fruits the ancients knew, growing in the old unhurried way in the same Mediterranean groves. We prepare them using time honoured methods, then package them with the greatest care to ensure that they reach you, our customers, in perfect condition;

Live, love, eat olives.

1. Loose olives

Since the early days back in St Nicholas Market we have been freshly preparing, curing and marinating our olives and perfecting our methods and marinades using time honoured techniques and always the finest ingredients. Through the wonders of our modern packing facility we can now deliver these deli fresh products direct to the doors of our customers, to be sold loose from your own fresh deli counter, or to serve to diners in your restaurant, café or bar.

Loose olives can be displayed and sold at room temperature from an olive bar or chilled from your deli counter. Our unique blend of extra virgin olive oil and cold-pressed sunflower oil ensures that the marinade will not solidify or go cloudy if displayed chilled. Loose olives need to be cared for in order to maintain quality and achieve great sales. We can help you with this, so please request a free guide to 'Looking After Your Olives'.

Our 'fresh marinated' range of products are aromatised in one of our unique recipes using the finest blends of herbs and spices to achieve a host of mouth watering combinations. These products are packed in a protective atmosphere and have up to four months shelf life from production.

Our 'just olives' range are pure and simple, just olives, that have been water cured and are ready to eat or to be marinated by you. These products are packed in a light brine solution and have up to five months shelf life from production.

3. Oils & vinegars

No self respecting Mediterranean food company would be complete without extra virgin olive oil. The fresh green oil that flows from the oil mills that surround the Mediterranean in late Autumn, in the form of extra virgin, is at the very heart and soul of Mediterranean cuisine and culture. The health benefits of this cold pressed elixir are well documented and the benefits of a Mediterranean diet have been heralded and championed for decades. Here we have carefully selected a range of bulk and retail extra virgin olive oil to meet the needs of the specialty food market. In addition to this we have sourced a high quality supply of cold pressed sunflower oil, which like extra virgin olive oil is a healthy and natural alternative to commercially and industrially refined oils.

4. Organic products

Our commitment to quality and sustainability has led us to seek out a handful of organic farms in Greece and Italy. Here olives are grown using organic methods that promote the health and sustainability of the olive groves and their immediate environment. In these groves the natural flora and fauna flourish and the land is rich and bountiful. Fresh organic olives are fermented over a much longer period than conventional olives and only become available in late March. Non organic olives are generally processed using more intrusive methods that result in fresh new season olives completing their fermentation as early as December. Organic olives tend to maintain a darker, richer and more natural colour, remaining crisp and firm for much longer into the year than conventionally farmed and processed olives.

In our quest for the perfect olive we are now fully certified by Organic Farmers & Growers as a UK organic producer and are very happy to see sales of our organic products growing as consumers become more conscious of the virtues of organic foods.

5. Trade & bulk olives

Olives have been a staple of the Mediterranean diet for centuries, and when it comes to processing olives little has changed since the time of the Phoenicians. Freshly harvested olives are transformed from the bitter and inedible fresh drupe that hang from gnarled and twisted trees, into sweet and delectable table olives, through a process of lactic fermentation. This is a natural process that occurs when fresh olives are stored in tanks of salt brine at around 8%. After a period of 3-6 months the fermentation ends and the olives are ready to eat.

Our suppliers pack our olives into barrels and tins directly from their tanks in the same strength of brine in which they have fermented. These olives are very salty and must be water cured before marinating, reducing the salt content to an acceptable and palatable level.

All of our bulk olives are supplied in a strong 8% brine and need to be cured with fresh water before use. If you need advice on how to do this then please let us know and we will be happy to be of assistance.
